About Me

I am a Junior programmer and passionate about new technologies. I am currently studying for a degree in Computer Engineering at the University of La Matanza.

I consider myself a cooperative, committed person and eager to learn. I am a fan of literature and self-knowledge.

I seek to complement my university education with extracurricular activities to improve my skills.

My goal is to develop professionally and face new challenges.

My areas of interest are: database management and analysis, computer security and artificial intelligence.
